We have the honour to invite you to the International Scientific Conference “Bioprotection – global plant health and product safety”. The event will be held at the University of Life Sciences in Lublin, Poland, between 23rd and 25th of September 2020.

Co-organizers of Conference: University of Agriculture in Krakow (Poland) and others recognized European universities.

We live in a time of new challenges for the safety of agricultural production, including caring for the plant health and the biological safety of products, climate change, pollution, environmental security and threats to human health. These are challenges not only for agriculture but also for research and education. Therefore, the University of Life Sciences in Lublin aims to offering researchers, students, business leaders, government employees and agricultural producers the innovative ideas and research results to address global challenges with scientific support. The Conference will provide you with the opportunity to create new connections and partnerships and will offer a unique insight into the most recent agricultural research and development, which will further promote the development of agriculture in the future.
